

A project of Luria Academy of Brooklyn

Room on the Bench provides an assessment, toolkit and individualized consultation services to school staff to benefit the education of students with disabilities in Jewish Day Schools and Yeshivas.

Consultation Services

Individualized Coaching

For a specific teacher or staff member, individualized coaching is best for an individual seeking to learn a wide variety of information about meeting the needs of students with disabilities in the classroom. Coaching can be done in person, by phone or by video chat.

Group Coaching

For a small group, such as a team of teachers working with the same class of students or an administrative team, group coaching delves deeply into individualized areas of concern or difficulty when accommodating students with disabilities in school. Coaching can be done in person or by video chat.

Workshop

For an entire faculty or large array of teachers, workshops tackle an issue through an engaging presentation and role-play to work on student engagement on a systemic level. All workshops are delivered in person.

Topics include:

- Creating student-centric environments
- Communicating with students with disabilities and Collaborative Problem Solving
- Response to Intervention and Differentiation in the Classroom
- Making Lessons Multi-Sensory
- Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports and 1:1 Behavior Intervention Plans
- Transitions

Pricing can be arranged by an hourly rate or on a per project basis.

Dana Keil, Director
dana@luria-academy.org
luria-academy.org/rotb